Risperidone 0.5mg, 1mg, 2mg, 3mg & 4mg Film-coated Tablets

Package leaflet: information for the user

Risperidone 0.5mg, 1mg, 2mg, 3mg & 4mg Film-coated Tablets

What is this medicine?
Risperidone tablets are for the treatment of psychosis or a manic episode in bipolar disorder. Risperidone tablet is also used to treat some disorders of the brain, such as attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). Risperidone tablets are also used to treat aggression in children.

What is this medicine and what is it used for?
Risperidone tablets are used to treat schizophrenia (a mental disorder in which people have a distorted perception of reality and think, feel, or act in ways that are different from those of other people). It can also be used to treat some disorders of the brain, such as attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). Risperidone tablets are also used to treat aggression in children.

How to take Risperidone Tablets
Your doctor will tell you which dose is best for you. The usual recommended dose is 1 mg a day. It may be increased by your doctor depending on how you respond to the treatment. Your dose may be increased by your doctor depending on how you respond to the treatment. Risperidone tablets should be swallowed whole and not chewed or disintegrated.

What to avoid while taking Risperidone Tablets
You should avoid drinking alcohol while taking Risperidone tablets. If you are pregnant or breast-feeding, you should not take Risperidone tablets. If you are planning to have an operation on your eye, you should not take Risperidone tablets.

Possible side effects
Risperidone tablets may cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions. It may also cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions.

Important information
Risperidone tablets may cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions. It may also cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions.

Prescription information
Risperidone tablets are available in the following strengths: 0.5 mg, 1 mg, 2 mg, 3 mg, and 4 mg. Each tablet contains the active ingredient risperidone.

Package leaflet: information for the user

What is this medicine?
Risperidone tablets are for the treatment of psychosis or a manic episode in bipolar disorder. Risperidone tablet is also used to treat some disorders of the brain, such as attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). Risperidone tablets are also used to treat aggression in children.

What is this medicine and what is it used for?
Risperidone tablets are used to treat schizophrenia (a mental disorder in which people have a distorted perception of reality and think, feel, or act in ways that are different from those of other people). It can also be used to treat some disorders of the brain, such as attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). Risperidone tablets are also used to treat aggression in children.

How to take Risperidone Tablets
Your doctor will tell you which dose is best for you. The usual recommended dose is 1 mg a day. It may be increased by your doctor depending on how you respond to the treatment. Your dose may be increased by your doctor depending on how you respond to the treatment. Risperidone tablets should be swallowed whole and not chewed or disintegrated.

What to avoid while taking Risperidone Tablets
You should avoid drinking alcohol while taking Risperidone tablets. If you are pregnant or breast-feeding, you should not take Risperidone tablets. If you are planning to have an operation on your eye, you should not take Risperidone tablets.

Possible side effects
Risperidone tablets may cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions. It may also cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions.

Important information
Risperidone tablets may cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions. It may also cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions.

Prescription information
Risperidone tablets are available in the following strengths: 0.5 mg, 1 mg, 2 mg, 3 mg, and 4 mg. Each tablet contains the active ingredient risperidone.

Package leaflet: information for the user

What is this medicine?
Risperidone tablets are for the treatment of psychosis or a manic episode in bipolar disorder. Risperidone tablet is also used to treat some disorders of the brain, such as attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). Risperidone tablets are also used to treat aggression in children.

What is this medicine and what is it used for?
Risperidone tablets are used to treat schizophrenia (a mental disorder in which people have a distorted perception of reality and think, feel, or act in ways that are different from those of other people). It can also be used to treat some disorders of the brain, such as attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). Risperidone tablets are also used to treat aggression in children.

How to take Risperidone Tablets
Your doctor will tell you which dose is best for you. The usual recommended dose is 1 mg a day. It may be increased by your doctor depending on how you respond to the treatment. Your dose may be increased by your doctor depending on how you respond to the treatment. Risperidone tablets should be swallowed whole and not chewed or disintegrated.

What to avoid while taking Risperidone Tablets
You should avoid drinking alcohol while taking Risperidone tablets. If you are pregnant or breast-feeding, you should not take Risperidone tablets. If you are planning to have an operation on your eye, you should not take Risperidone tablets.

Possible side effects
Risperidone tablets may cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions. It may also cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions.

Important information
Risperidone tablets may cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions. It may also cause effects such as vomiting, nausea, headache, dizziness, restlessness, agitation, increased body temperature, skin rashes, fever, infections, agitation, restlessness, tremor, and convulsions.

Prescription information
Risperidone tablets are available in the following strengths: 0.5 mg, 1 mg, 2 mg, 3 mg, and 4 mg. Each tablet contains the active ingredient risperidone.
Risperidone 0.5mg, 1mg, 2mg, 3mg & 4mg Tablets PIL - UK

approved for preclinical

---

Please note that only Artwork Studio is permitted to make changes to the above artwork. No changes are permitted by any party other than additional notes and mark ups for required changes.